Ever fancied showing off your skills at the England national team's training base at St George's Park?

Playing an inch-perfect pass or hitting a powerful shot on the same, slick surface which graces Wembley Stadium? Lining up alongside a top ex-player or having a former star of the game as your manager?

Well now you can, thanks to the Copa Del Cure Leukaemia, a six-a-side football tournament taking place at St George's Park on Friday 16th October.

Players can take advantage of the opportunity to live like professionals for a day, featuring in matches on the FIFA-approved 3G pitch and then enjoying an evening dinner with guest speakers at the on-site Hilton Hotel.

As well as the football there will be plenty of additional elements to the event to add to the fun, including footballing legends to be involved on the day. In 2018 and 2019 we saw Matt Le Tissier, Paul Merson, Stiliyan Petrov, Kevin Phillips, Peter Odemwingie, Matt Murray and many more all taking part. Confirmed players for 2021 will be announced nearer the event but we will have both new and returning ex-pros on the day.

Johnny Phillips, from Sky Sports' Soccer Saturday, will be the man on the microphone for all the post-match interviews as well as hosting the evening event.

The plan is for up to 30 teams to take part in the event, and the cost of £2,750 per team, based around a squad of ten players, includes a full kit, pre-tournament lunch, a minimum of three matches on a tournament basis, and your table at the evening dinner.

After the tournament, there will then be a 3-course evening dinner and bar at the venue for all players to celebrate together and hear stories from the ex-players involved. There will be a special guest after dinner speaker, trophy presentation, as well as some of the video highlights & funny moments from the days play.
